Sid Cohen Goes To N.Y.-Graham

EL PASO BALL PLAYER TO GET HIS CHANCE IN FAST COMPANY

SID COHEN, first baseman and outfielder for the El Paso Giants and a homebred El Paso product, will leave El Paso for New York at 8 o'clock tonight. Sid is going east to take his first crack at organized baseball, but was uncertain as to his destination Wednesday morning.

Sid's decision to leave was made Tuesday night, after he received a telegram from his brother, Andy, telling him to report in New York on July 3. Whether the telegram means that Sid is to get his chance with the New York Giants or whether it means that he is to go to the Buffalo International league club with which Andy now plays was the subject of considerable speculation in local baseball circles Wednesday morning, and Sid himself was unable to cast any light on it.

"In a way it was a surprise to me and I na way it wasn't. I have been trying to get into organized baseball and have been corresponding with Andy about it recently. I had about given up hope of getting anywhere with it this year, however, when the telegram came.

"I only know that Andy told me to report to New York, and that is where I am going. I don't know what arrangements Andy has made further than what was said in the telegram."

One rumor was that Sid was to get a chance with the Giants, along with Andy, who played with the Gothamites last year, but who was sent to Buffalo this season. Andy has been hitting at the fastest clip in the league since he has been with Buffalo, and according to recent reports from the east is about to get another chance with John J. McGraw.

McGraw admittedly has been trying to revamp his Giants for the remainder of the pennant race and has been on the lookout for new players to take the place of some of his erratic veterans.

Both of the Cohens started playing on El Paso's sand lots. Andy played shortstop for high school in 1921 and 1922, being captain of the team. He also starred in basketball, being voted the best player in Texas at the state tournament. Andy was a football letterman also, and played in the backfield.

Sid followed in his footsteps and lettered both in basketball and baseball at high school. He played on the basketball team four years, making the grade when on his freshman year. During the time he played with the Tigers, Sid also showed in the City league with the American Railway Express team.

Both boys played with Hurley in the Copper league of 1924. Andy at short and Sid on first base. Andy then went to Waco, in the Texas league, and his playing there attracted the notice of New York scouts.

Andy joined the Giants in mid-season last year and stayed with the club till the close of the baseball year. The Giants farmed him to Buffalo, in the International league, where Andy is showing the way in hitting and fielding.

Andy played three years with Alabama university, where Sidney has been attending school.

El Paso Boy Going East

SID COHEN, El Paso Giant, will leave for New York tonight. A telegram from his brother, Andy, caused the El Paso boy to decide to venture into big company, and he is to report July 3.

CARD THREAT IS REPULSED

Athletics' Gallant Rally in Ninth Inning Falls Short of Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Records of the latest baseball games read like fiction today as the contesting big league teams hit a rapid pace for the dash past the Fourth of July bandstand that marks roughly the middle of the season.

One of those whirlwind ninth inning rallies which seldom occur except in books took place as the second place Philadelphia Athletics sought to cut down a nine-run lead in a single frame in the last game of their series with the league leading Yanks. The gallant attempt fell just short of winning. It scored eight runs in the ninth, but the Yanks already had nine.

An important figure in rolling up the early Yankee lead was Buster Gehrig who tapped out his 22nd home run, a wallop that put him just one behind his teammate Ruth who is still out of the lineup with a bad knee.

By coincidence the leaders of the other league, the Pirates, repulsed their nearest rivals, the Cardinals by the same score, 9 to 8. The game was marred by a wild pitch by Victor Keen, Cardinal hurler, which struck Glenn Wright, Pittsburgh shortstop in the head and knocked him out. Keen was so unnerved he left the game. Wright may be out of the Pirate lineup two or three days recovering.

A thrilling bit of baseball fiction that happened to come true was the return of Lou Blackburne, infield star of the White Sox 12 years ago. When manager Ray Schalk was put off the field for protesting an umpire's decision, Blackburne promoted himself from the bench to a pinch-hitter's role and poked out a single which helped to win 8 to 7 over the Indians.

Washington and Detroit were hitting a fast pace and threatening the three leaders in their league. Both ends of a double header with the Browns went to the Tigers 9 to 3 and 6 to 3 while the Senators scored a clean sweep of a five-game series with the Red Sox by beating the struggling Bostonians 4 to 0. Crowder held the Sox to just two hits.

Chicago and New York Giants, strong but erratic at present, went down in one-sided defeats. Four of McGraw's weak hurlers were used in vain as the Phillies won 7 to 3. The lowly Reds were on a rampage against the Cubs and made 12 hits to their six in beating them 8 to 1.

TIGERS WILL START EARLY

Railston Plans to Have Grid Candidates Turn Out in August

El Paso high school's Tigers will go into training for the coming football season about the beginning of August, according to Capt. Louis Railston.

Railston plans to have the prospective players for next season, and the lettermen, as many of them as will turn out, meet in the stadium every week-day afternoon during August, and go through workouts so as the team will be in the best possible shape by the time Coach Olie, the new high school gridiron mentor, takes charge.

The plan, Railston points out, would eliminate the delay of having to get into condition after the starting of school, and would provide ample time for the team to get used to the new coach.

The Tigers will have a wealth of material out next season, according to Railston, and have bright prospects of winning the southwestern high school conference championship. The conference will be operating for the first time next season, and will include El Paso, Las Cruces, Roswell, Albuquerque, Tucson, Phoenix and Mesa high schools.

California and Navy Picked By Experts In Regatta Today

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 29 AP.—The broad sweep of the Hudson river opposite Poughkeepsie, scene of many a sensational college naval battle in the past 30 years, was cleared today to decide the intercollegiate rowing championship of America with more uncertainty over the outcome reflected in expert opinion than in many a season.

Speculation focussing chiefly on the four mile varsity battle for the title now held by the University of Washington developed a slight preference for the chances of the naval academy with California picked instead of the champions to make it another spectacular east-west struggle.

So closely matched were most of the entire field of seven crews, however, that it was not difficult to find at least some experienced opinion supporting any of the contenders and not a few hailing Washington to repeat with others strong in the belief that Columbia, Syracuse or Cornell would break through to score the first triumph of a member of the intercollegiate rowing association since 1920.

Penn alone failed to measure up as a contender in forecasts but even
