Syd Cohen Here; Not To Play In Southern Series

Sydney Cohen will not play with Wichita Falls in the Dixie series.

He returned to El Paso Wednesday following the close of the Texas league season. A bruised left knee which he injured in chasing a foul ball will prevent him taking part in the play-off between Wichita Falls and the winner of the Southern league, probably New Orleans.

He is not planning either on returning to Alabama University this year but will stay in El Paso, he said. He will report to the Spudders at the beginning of next season.

Cohen was with Wichita Falls for more than a month this season. He failed to get in many games but has a chance to find a regular berth on the club next year.

"I didn't hit very much with Wichita Falls," Cohen said, "but next year I am going to try hitting right handed instead of left handed. I believe that will help my average."

Andy Hits .349

Andy Cohen is hitting .349 with Buffalo in the International league, according to the latest averages of the circuit.

He is the third best hitter in the league, in figuring averages of batters in 100 or more games.

His line in the percentage column reads:

G.	AB.	R.	H.	SH.	Pct.
138	519	80	181	2	.349

Want Sunday Game
