Sid Cohen, El Paso Boy, Signs Contract With San Francisco

SIDNEY COHEN, El Paso baseball product, will tryout for the San Francisco baseball club of the Pacific Coast league this spring. Cohen signed a contract to play with the Seals in 1928 for the highest salary he has ever received and will report for spring training late in February.

Cohen will tryout as a pitcher for the Seals. He pitched very little last season, doing some relief mound work for the El Paso ball club. He showed, in the games he pitched, that he had more stuff than any other pitcher in the Copper league, with the probable exception of Lefty Williams, the old Chicago White Sox southpaw.

Although only 20 years of age, Cohen has had much baseball experience. He began his playing career in El Paso, playing with El Paso High school. He lettered four years at High school and then played one year with Alabama university. He played four seasons in the Copper baseball league, starting with Hurley in 1924 as a first baseman, and then playing with El Paso in 1925. He was with Fort Bayard in 1926, where he played the outfield. Last year he played with El Paso again.

Sidney received a tryout with the New York Giants and finished the season with the Wichita Falls club, Texas league champions. He is a brother of Andy Cohen, shortstop of the Buffalo club of the International league, who goes to the New York Giants in March.
